

Finger Lakes Advanced Manufacturers' Enterprise (FAME, not FLAME)

This is the group of businesses with positions going unfilled, who have banded together to find ways to train the existing workforce and to alert the public school system (admins, parents, taxpayers, teachers, students) to this issue in hopes of filling "the pipeline."

Be sure to at least sign up for their mailing list. I recently joined them on LinkedIn and find that I'm getting more info that way. Because my employer blocks Facebook, I haven't investigated that way to stay informed, and it may be that LinkedIn and Facebook updates are duplicates. Email notices have dropped way off.

<http://www.nyfame.org>

Look at the member listing. Again, these are, for the most part, businesses who have openings for people with "middle skills" (which you can find ample info about online) that they can not always fill. Most of these positions are closer to Rochester, with many in eastern Ontario County and Wayne County. Wages and growth opportunity (employer-subsidized training, promotions) makes these jobs well worth considering.